Re: 2022 Proposed amendments of the L&S Bylaws, Section I:
Part I, Part III, Part IV, Part VI. Titles I and II, Part VII, Part X,
and Part VI. Title II.9E

The L&S Executive Committee (EC) submits the following proposal to L&S Faculty requesting to amend L&S Bylaws, Section I: Part I, Part III, Part IV, Part VI. Titles I and II, Part VII, Part X. An annotated version of the bylaw changes (pages 1-7) are attached for your review.

The Committee on Rules and Elections (R&E), L&S Divisional Deans, and the Committee on Courses of Instruction and Academic Programs (CAP) reviewed the proposed amendments in advance circulation to the Faculty, and provided the EC with comments and feedback that were incorporated into this proposal.

The college is long overdue for a review of its bylaws as L&S’s last recorded bylaw change occurred in 1995. After numerous policy changes that occurred during the spring semester of 2020, as a result of the Covid-19 pandemic, the EC found this to be a critical time to evaluate the rules which govern the college. The educational and instructional landscape continues to evolve and shed light on equity concerns for all students, for example. It is essential for the college to establish a foundation within its bylaws that speaks to the shared governance of the college which will address broad policy questions, and pedagogical challenges that affect the general welfare of our students and the L&S undergraduate degree.

In the appended bylaws, the EC proposes several non-substantive changes, mostly of language, to bring the bylaws up to date. These minor changes labeled “Bylaw edits” involve clarification of terminology, shifting of text from one section to another to enhance a more logical flow, or the elimination of duplicate language.

More importantly, the EC proposes some substantive bylaw changes, and provides explanations and rationales for those changes here.

Part III. OFFICERS

The amendments in this section of the bylaws clarifies that the position of the Chair of the Faculty is elected by the L&S EC, and also serves as Chair of the L&S EC. Additionally, the Chair’s term of service is specified as a two-year term which is in addition to their three-year term as an EC member. Since the EC Chair is elected from among its members, a three-year term of service provides substantial experience before serving as Chair of the EC and of the L&S faculty.

These bylaws replace the role of Secretary of the Faculty with an L&S Associate Dean. The duties of the two positions are similar as outlined in this bylaw; therefore, this change updates in alignment with the college’s current practice.
Part VI. COMMITTEES, Title I. Appointment and Tenure

This section is changed to reintroduce faculty elections to appoint committee members to the EC and Committee on Courses of Instruction and Academic Programs (CAP). Additional changes detail the terms of service for the EC Chair, and EC and CAP members.

Historically, the College of Letters and Science held regular faculty elections using paper ballots to determine membership on the L&S EC and CAP. In 1995, the college attempted to convert its paper balloting system to an electronic voting system to elect EC and CAP members. The college was unsuccessful with its execution of an electronic vote, and began appointing EC and CAP members based on calls for nominations from L&S deans and department chairs.

This change signifies the return to an elected membership for the L&S EC and CAP. L&S is capable of resolving the original issue of managing an electronic voting system because such systems are now easily accessible and sustainable.

More importantly, elections involve the faculty at large with the college’s practice of shared governance, and gives the L&S faculty the authority and ability to designate representatives on these committees. Through the election process, the college also aims to elevate the work of the L&S faculty members who serve on the EC and CAP, and acknowledge these committee members for their extensive decision-making responsibilities on behalf of the faculty, staff, and students in the college.

These bylaws are amended also to revise the length of service for elected EC and CAP members from one year to three years. EC and CAP members agree that a year-long term of service is an insufficient amount of time to learn the duties and responsibilities of the committee’s work. The change to a three-year term of service ensures continuity of institutional memory among current and new members.

A new bylaw has been added to codify the new Vice Chair position within the EC, and outlines the terms of service for that role. The Vice Chair of the EC is appointed by the elected L&S EC Chair, and serves as a backup in the event that the Chair is unable to perform their duties. Should the Vice Chair choose to run for the role of EC Chair, their term of service and experience as Vice Chair would allow for a smooth transition of duties.

Lastly, a new section of the bylaws has been added (Title I. 8E.1- 4) to outline the election process for L&S committees. This section was modeled after UC Berkeley Division Bylaws Part I.9 Division Elections (https://academic-senate.berkeley.edu/bylaws/9-division-elections). This section includes the details for establishing an electronic voting system, and the rules outlining the notice of election, and the voting and nomination processes.

Elections will be held annually in anticipation of upcoming vacancies, typically no more than 1/3 of the committee positions.

Part VI. COMMITTEES, Title II.9 List of Standing Committees: Their Powers and Duties

These bylaws are revised to detail EC membership and codify the intention to compose a committee that is balanced and representative of the L&S divisions and undergraduate degree programs. These bylaws also clarify that the Executive Dean of the College and the Associate Dean are non-voting ex-officio members of the EC.

The oversight of the EC has been expanded to include broad questions regarding policy, and the pedagogical direction of the College, and clarifies that the EC will make decisions on behalf of the general welfare of the students. The addition of these changes was particularly relevant when the EC undertook the responsibility on behalf of the college for reviewing and providing guidance for numerous temporary policy changes during spring 2020 at the onset of the Covid-19 pandemic.

Section E is added to clarify that the authority to review and amend L&S regulations resides with the Executive Committee.

This item will be considered in a separate vote from the other proposed amendments.

Title II.10 Courses of Instruction and Academic Programs

The terms of service for CAP members and their election are similar to the EC. These bylaw changes clarify that CAP is a standing committee (not subcommittee of the L&S EC).

The bylaws also outline subcommittees which oversee the review of courses that satisfy the L&S Essential Skills requirements (Reading and Composition, Quantitative Reasoning, and Foreign Language). Since Essential Skills subcommittees are formed from existing CAP members, the bylaws are amended to expand the duties of CAP to include the review of courses for the Essential Skills requirements in addition to the Seven-Course Breadth requirements. CAP will be asked to consult with the EC on issues particularly related to essential skills and breadth as needed.

Sincerely,

Kim Shelton

SECTION II
REGULATIONS OF THE FACULTY OF THE COLLEGE OF LETTERS AND SCIENCE

100. LETTERS AND SCIENCE COLLEGE (L&S EC 4-2015) REQUIREMENTS

The College's breadth requirement comprises certain skills and subjects which the candidate must complete according to the specifications listed below. No course offered in partial satisfaction of the breadth requirement may be used to satisfy any other part of the requirement but may be used in partial satisfaction of a major or minor requirement or in satisfaction of a campus requirement.

Courses used in satisfaction of the breadth requirement must have a minimum semester unit value of three (L&S EC 9-2013).

Courses offered by a major department or degree recommending program may be used to satisfy a portion of the breadth requirement.

(L&S Fac 5-92)

Essential Skills ((L&S EC 4-2015)

(A) English Reading and Composition

The candidate shall complete a sequence of courses designed for the purpose of developing facility in English reading and composition. The first half of the requirement (R&C 1A) shall be completed normally during the freshman year; the second half of the requirement (R&C 1B) shall be completed normally during the sophomore year. A student admitted to the College with advanced standing is required to complete such sequence unless the student's transcript indicates the previous completion of equivalent college level work. The standards to be applied with respect to this requirement will be determined, and the means by which the requirement may be satisfied will be recommended to the Executive Committee by a standing committee of the Faculty of the College.

(Am. 3-12-90)

(B) Quantitative Reasoning

The candidate shall demonstrate competence in quantitative reasoning in one of the following ways:

(1) By satisfactory performance on an examination administered by the College or an equivalent examination administered by another educational institution or agency. The topics to be covered and the standards to be applied shall be determined by a standing committee of the College and will ordinarily presuppose completion of approximately three and a half years of high school mathematics or the equivalent.

(2) By completing with a minimum grade of C- any one college course from a list approved by the Executive Committee of the College on the recommendation of the committee administering the quantitative reasoning examination. Courses approved to satisfy this requirement shall be those which develop competence in quantitative reasoning at a level equivalent or superior to that of the quantitative reasoning examination.

(E.C. 2-28-78)

(C) Foreign Language

The candidate shall satisfy this requirement in one of the following ways:

(1) By completing in high school the third year of a foreign language with a minimum grade of C-.
(2) By completing the second semester of Berkeley courses, or its equivalent at another institution, in a foreign language with a minimum grade of C-.
(3) By demonstrating equivalent knowledge through examination, including the CEEB Achievement Test, the CEEB Advanced Placement Examination (if taken before admission to the College), or an examination administered on a campus of the University of California.

(D) Seven-Course Breadth (L&S EC 4-2015) Distribution Requirement

The candidate shall complete seven courses, taken on the Berkeley campus or articulated at transfer, with no more than two courses from the same department, as follows:

- one course in Physical Science;
- one course in Biological Science;
- one course in Arts and Literature;
- one course in Historical Studies;
- one course in Philosophy and Values;
- one course in International Studies (or participation in the University of California Education Abroad Program or a recognized equivalent program);
- one course in Social and Behavioral Sciences.

The Executive Committee, on the recommendation of the Committee on Courses of Instruction and Academic Program, shall consider each course offered by the College of Letters and Science and by the Professional Schools and Colleges for assignment, if appropriate, to one or more of the seven areas.

(L&S Fac 5-92)

110. PASSED OR NOT PASSED

Students in the College of Letters and Science may not enroll on a Passed or Not Passed basis in courses taken to fulfill College requirements in foreign language, reading and composition, and quantitative reasoning, except in experimental sections offered on a Passed or Not Passed basis by the departments concerned under Regulation 204 of the Berkeley Division. The Faculty of the College of Letters and Science delegates to the department, group, or committee in charge of a major its authority to accept as part of the major courses completed on a Passed or Not Passed basis.

120. ADVISING AND APPROVAL OF CONFIRMED CLASS SCHEDULES

College advisers under the supervision of the Associate Dean responsible for undergraduate advising guide non-major students in the selection of proper programs of study and in other academic matters. At his or her discretion, that Associate Dean may require approval of a Faculty or College adviser each semester on confirmed class schedules of certain students, e.g., those not making satisfactory progress and those enrolled in limited or special status. Students in a major must have their schedule request forms signed each semester unless the department, committee, or group in charge of a major, after consultation with the Dean of the Undergraduate Division, decides to permit students in that major to file schedule request forms without an adviser's signature. Students other than those specifically required to have their schedule request forms approved may request schedules including 13 or more units in a normal program leading to completion of the requirements for the degree without an adviser's approval. Students who receive confirmed class schedules of fewer than 13 units or more than 20.5 units are subject to Regulation 801 of the Berkeley Division.

130. CONCURRENT ENROLLMENT

Concurrent enrollment in courses offered by University Extension (including correspondence courses) or at other institutions is not permitted except in extraordinary circumstances, and no credit will be given for such courses unless the approval of the Associate Dean responsible for undergraduate advising has been obtained prior to enrollment.

140. MINOR PROGRAMS

A. Departments and groups may establish minor programs, subject to the approval of the Executive Committee of the college. The minor program is intended as an optional program to encourage coherence in the work students undertake outside their major field(s) of study.

B. The following minimum criteria will apply to minor programs in the College of Letters and Science:

(1) Five upper division courses are required for completion of a minor program. At least three of the five upper division courses must be taken at Berkeley.

(2) All upper division courses used in satisfaction of a minor program must be taken for a letter grade. The Executive Committee is authorized to grant exemptions from this requirement to departments and groups.
The student must achieve at least a C average (2.000) in the upper division courses offered in satisfaction of a minor program.

Courses accepted for a minor program may also be accepted in satisfaction of college breadth requirements, provided they meet the criteria set forth in Faculty Regulation 100.

The Associate Dean responsible for undergraduate advising is authorized, in consultation with the department or group, to grant exceptions to these requirements to students on an individual basis.

C. A student may, in addition to completing a four-year major program, complete one or more minor programs. A student wishing to pursue a minor program must secure the approval of the department or group in charge of the program. The department or group is responsible for monitoring the minor program.

D. Work on one or more minor programs will not entitle a student registered in the College of Letters and Science to exceed the limit placed upon the number of units allowed in the college.

E. At the time that the student completes the minor program, the department or group in charge of the minor program shall notify the Office of the Registrar. Completion of the minor program will be noted on the student's transcript of Berkeley work.

F. A student may use a maximum of one upper division course to satisfy requirements of both a major and a minor. The Associate Dean responsible for undergraduate advising is authorized, in consultation with the department or group, to grant exceptions to this requirement to students on an individual basis. The Executive Committee is authorized to grant exemptions from this limitation to departments and groups.

150. DOUBLE MAJOR PROGRAMS (L&S EC 4-2020)

A. Students in L&S who wish to pursue more than one major may apply for a double major. A double major program consists of two L&S majors resulting in a Bachelor of Arts degree with two majors, with one diploma issued.

B. The following minimum criteria will apply to double major programs in the College of Letters and Science:

   (1) Students must complete at least one semester at UC Berkeley and have an overall GPA of 2.0 or higher.

   (2) A maximum of two upper-division courses may be used to satisfy requirements for both majors. The Associate Dean responsible for undergraduate advising is authorized, in consultation with the department or group, to grant exceptions to this requirement to students on an individual basis. The L&S Executive Committee is authorized to grant exemptions from this limitation to departments and groups.

(3) Both majors must be declared at least one semester before the student’s Expected Graduation Term. Double major petitions will not be approved in a student's final semester.

(4) All degree requirements must be completed by the ninth semester (fifth semester for transfer students). Plans that go beyond these allowable semesters will not be approved. Exceptions can be considered on an individual basis by the L&S Associate Dean.

(5) Advisers in both major departments must approve the declaration of both majors.

C. A student may complete multiple (e.g. triple or quadruple) major programs. Students wishing to pursue such programs must secure the approval of each department or group in charge of the program. All criteria listed in L&S 150.B will apply to these programs.

D. At the time that the student completes both major programs, the department or group in charge of the major program shall notify the Office of the Registrar. Completion of both major programs will be noted on the student's transcript of Berkeley work.
